Country foods such as caribou, seal, walrus, and fish are an important part of the Nunavut diet. These foods are rich in nutrients and provide a variety of health benefits. The traditional knowledge and skills of the people of Nunavut are essential for the sustainable harvesting and use of these resources. This knowledge is passed on from one generation to the next, ensuring that the benefits of these resources are shared for generations to come.

Nunavut is a vast and diverse territory with a rich natural resource base. The people of Nunavut have a long history of sustainable harvesting and use of these resources. This knowledge is essential for the future of the territory and its people. The Nunavut government is committed to supporting the sustainable harvesting and use of these resources, and to ensuring that the benefits of these resources are shared for generations to come.
